

INTERSTITIAL FLUID SAMPLER

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A sampling apparatus for sampling interstitial 5 fluid includes a sampler having an external geometry selected to mate with an internal geometry of a testing apparatus such that the sampler may be inserted within the testing apparatus in a predetermined alignment and with a sampling location positioned accurately within a light path 10 for detecting an amount of a desired constituent collected by the sampler.